GAME OF HOMERS WAS THIS TILT

Four Rapped Out in Second Contest of World's Series.

YANKEES ON THE LONG END

Ruth, Mighty Hitter, Slugs the American Leaguers to Victory Over the Giants, These Proving the Margin of the Yankee Triumph—Ward and "Irish" Meusel Also Register Distance Clouts.

New York, Oct. 12.—Babe Ruth, the mighty hitter of the New York Yanks, slugged the American leaguers to victory over the Giants with two home runs, those runs proving the margin of the Yankee triumph.

In the fourth inning of yesterday's game Ruth smashed the ball into the upper tier of the right field stand, and in the fifth he drove it into the lower tier. Twice he got his base on balls.

It was a game of home runs. Aaron Ward, the Arkansas man, who plays second for the Yanks, made one. "Irish" Meusel of the Giants, made another. These home runs were both hit into the left field stand. They were both as important in their way as Ruth's home runs, but they did not evoke the same cheering.

A spidery young man named Herbert Pennock, a young man with thin arms and thin legs and not much body, who pitched with his left hand, held the Giants in check after Ruth and Ward had made their home runs. Pennock came to the Yankees from the Boston Red Sox, whence so many other Yanks have come, in a trade last winter.

The Yankees soon drove Hugh McCulligan, a Giant right hander, from the box, then Jack Bentley, said to have cost McDrew $65,000, came in. He held the Yankees to five scattered hits.

In the second inning each team scored, home runs being rapped out by Ward and Meusel. The Yankees tallied twice in the fourth on Ruth's homer and on singles by Pipp, Schang and Scott. They scored again in the fifth on Ruth's second homer. The Giants made their second run in the sixth on hits by Groh, Frisch and Young.

Paid attendance was officially announced as 40,482. Receipts $158,498. Official score:

FORD'S NAME ON BALLOT

Entered in Nebraska Primaries as Third Party Candidate.

Omaha, Neb., Oct. 12.—Henry Ford, Detroit automobile manufacturer, became a third party candidate in the Nebraska primary. The petition with Mr. Ford's name was filed several weeks ago by Roy Harrop of Omaha, secretary of the Progressive party. Under the Nebraska law the candidate has power to withdraw his name after the petition has been filed. But Mr. Ford, acknowledging notice of the filing, did not mention withdrawal. Official notice was sent to Mr. Ford Sept. 15. Acknowledgment has just been received, signed by E. G. Liebold, private secretary to Mr. Ford. It was brief: "On behalf of Mr. Ford, the writer desires to acknowledge receipt of your letter of Sept. 15 and to thank you for the information contained."

DORA DUBY

New York Dancer Figures in Breach of Promise Suit.

Miss Duby has instituted action against Harold Grier, said to be an officer of the Dominion Glass company at Montreal, Canada, for $100,000.

PROBING CROSSING DISASTER

Authorities to Place Blame For Killing of Eight Children.

Ravenna, O., Oct. 12.—Authorities are investigating the disaster at Lambert crossing, near this city, where a Pennsylvania passenger train "ashed into" and demolished a school bus carrying 18 persons and in which eight young children were killed instantly and four others seriously hurt.

Andrew Kazinet, a survivor, said he was seated at the extreme end of the bus and heard the whistle of the train as it swung around a bend in the road, several hundred feet away. He screamed a warning and flung himself off the back step. Later, he said that Louis Cline, the bus driver, had not looked to see if the tracks were clear before he drove across. Cline made a furious effort to have his team and bus clear the tracks, but only the front part of the vehicle was across the tracks before the engine, with brakes grinding, smashed into the wooden bus.

The dead: Mildred Shaw, 11; Harold Shaw, 9, and Verna Shaw, 2, children of C. Grover Shaw; Thelma Benshoff, 9, daughter of Frank Benshoff; Margaret Kuntz, 12, daughter of Mike Kuntz; Julia Wancik, 13; Ella Stainke, 14, daughter of George Stainke, and Richard Silvani, 8, son of Charles Silvani.

Crabbe to Take Case to Courts.

Columbus, Oct. 12.—Attorney General Crabbe announced that his charges against the state securities division will be aired in the courts. "From all the facts and circumstances which have been developed as result of our investigation of the Dollings swindle, I shall protest against a 'whitewash' either of the blue sky department or of the Dollings company by Governor Donahoe or anyone else," Crabbe said.

SEEKS LEGAL RULING

Congressman Enjoined From Making Intoxicating Liquor at Home.

Baltimore, Md., Oct. 12.—A temporary injunction restraining Congressman John Philip Hill of Maryland from continuing the manufacture of intoxicating liquor, was signed by Judge Morris A. Soper in the United States district court. Judge Soper's action was taken at the request of United States Attorney A. W. Woodcock, who, in deciding not to place the cause before the grand jury, explained that inasmuch as Mr. Hill had admitted violating the law there was no need for grand jury action. No date was fixed for a hearing on the injunction.

Mr. Hill, who began about a month ago the manufacture of fruit juices for use in his own home, has declared that it was for the purpose of obtaining an authoritative ruling on the permissible alcoholic content of fruit juice made in the home. He said his fruit juices have developed alcoholic percentages ranging from 2 to 12 percent.

See Money Inflation Policy.

Paris, Oct. 12.—The reported impending decision of the British government to inaugurate a policy of money inflation is widely commented on here, many of the papers indicating that France will be obliged to follow suit and print more paper money in order to keep up the level of exportation. "Fiduciary inflation will be a lesser evil than business stagnation," says information, a financial journal.

COOLIDGE DROPS WORLD COURT?

Publication of Report Stirs All Circles at Capital.

POLITICAL GOSSIPS IN ACTION

Openly Speculating on What Effect the President's New Policy, as Alleged, Will Have on the Connection of Secretaries Hughes and Hoover With the Administration—Court Proposal to Be Pigeon Holed.

Washington, Oct. 12.—Publication here of an unqualified report that President Coolidge has definitely dropped the world court created a stir in official, diplomatic and political circles.

Shortly after the edition containing the article reached the streets, Secretary of State Hughes appeared at the White House. He was immediately ushered in to see the president and remained closeted with the executive for an hour and a quarter. On leaving the president's office, Secretary Hughes declined to throw any light on the subject discussed. He flatly told the correspondents he could not give them any information. But, Mr. Hughes added voluntarily, that his "chat" with the president was "very pleasant."

The circumstances of Mr. Hughes' long visit at the White House and his attitude on leaving further stimulated interest started by the news article as to what effect Mr. Coolidge's new policy will have on Mr. Hughes' connection with the administration. Will he find his position in the cabinet untenable? Secretary of Commerce Hoover's status is similarly affected. The embarrassment for these two cabinet members, who have been the chief sponsors for the court within the administration, in a decision of the president to throw the court overboard is inescapable. It was stated in Democratic quarters that Mr. Hughes will be called upon within the next day or two to take note of the development and resign as the only consistent thing to do.

President Coolidge's decision will be applauded by the leaders of the Republican party organization. It coincides with the views of the managers in the senate and in the national committee. Regulars in the senate like Watson and Lodge are openly against the court, while John O. Johnson, brakeman. None of the passengers was injured.

The attack was on the California-Oregon state line and poses under sheriffs from both states are searching for two men seen fleeing from the tunnel after the holdup. The doors of the express and mail cars were blown open by the explosion and the express safe dynamited. The three members of the train crew were shot to death.

BANDITS WRECK PASSENGER TRAIN

Kill Three Trainmen and Escape With Their Loot.

Redding, Cal., Oct. 12.—Southern Pacific train No. 13, crack passenger train from Portland to San Francisco, was wrecked by bandits in a tunnel near Siskiyou. Three of the crew were killed.

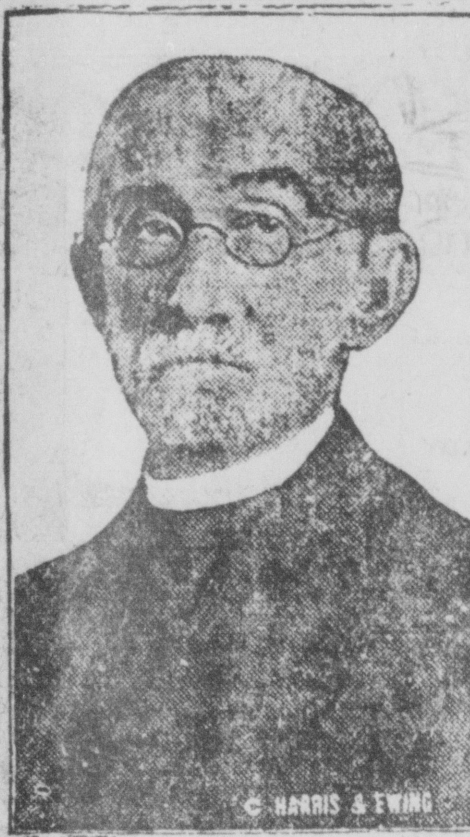

The train was stopped in Tunnel 13 and the passenger and mail cars wrecked by a heavy explosion of dynamite. The dead are: S. L. Bates, engineer; M. Seng, fireman, and C. O. Johnson, brakeman. None of the passengers was injured.

The attack was on the California-Oregon state line and poses under sheriffs from both states are searching for two men seen fleeing from the tunnel after the holdup. The doors of the express and mail cars were blown open by the explosion and the express safe dynamited. The three members of the train crew were shot to death.

On his plea of guilty Alexander A. Kels, wealthy butcher, was sentenced at Stockton, Cal., to be hanged for the murder of Edward Meservey, near the Kels ranch, on Sept. 12. Meservey was an aged itinerant laborer.

DOINGS IN OHIO

Grand Jury to Probe Case.

Cincinnati, Oct. 12.—As a result of the discovery by Sheriff Howard E. Webster of Montgomery county, O., and Federal Inspector Byron M. Roberts of Cincinnati, that narcotic drugs were being supplied and sold to federal prisoners in the county jail at Dayton, and that a former jail turnkey had permitted a federal prisoner to leave the jail, the federal grand jury here will be called upon to make an investigation. The matter has been taken up with District Judge Smith Hickenlooper.

Body Exhumed.

Van Wert, O., Oct. 12.—In an effort to establish the cause of death, the body of J. Frank Homan, who died suddenly at Toledo and was buried here a few days later, has been exhumed and the vital organs sent to a Fort Wayne laboratory for analysis. Relatives believe he died of poisoning. Homan took out $35,000 worth of life insurance policies five months ago, but this did not become known, it is said, until after his death.

Held Work of Murderer.

Steubenville, O., Oct. 12.—That the dynamiting of the home of Charles Pearce, dry agent, at Smithfield, near here, was the work of a professional killer is the opinion of Sheriff Edward Lucas, who is investigating the outrage. Sheriff Lucas has discovered slugs of metal from the bomb in the walls of houses in the vicinity. Damage caused by the blast is estimated at $50,000. The four injured are recovering.

Bride Sold; Three Jailed.

Canton, O., Oct. 12.—Armed Mustabe Gareeb, would-be groom; Alex Ahmet, the father, and Mustapha Haddad, the "best man," all of New Kensington, Pa., were convicted of contributing to the delinquency of a minor, fined and sentenced to the workhouse. The first named sought to buy the 13-year-old daughter by paying her father $3,000. The girl was returned to her home in Pennsylvania.

Sentence Suspended.

Akron, O., Oct. 12.—When the name of George Benedetti was called as prosecuting witness in the case of George Martin, 30, of Zanesville, on trial for assault to rob, the prosecutor told the court that Benedetti had been murdered Sept. 26. Martin then volunteered to tell the story of his crime. Following the prisoner's testimony, Judge E. H. Boylan commented on his honesty and suspended penitentiary sentence.

Must Die in Chair.

New Lexington, O., Oct. 12.—Charles Brooks, negro, convicted for the second time of the first degree murder of Henry Burns, coal operator, last year, will be the first person from this county to die in the electric chair. Brooks was granted a new trial by court of appeals, and his second conviction followed.

Knights Templar Elect.

Columbus, Oct. 12.—B. Frank Murphy of Steubenville, Ohio congress man, was elevated to the highest post in the gift of Knights Templar of Ohio when he was elected to succeed F. Oscar Schoedinger, Columbus, as grand commander. Steubenville was chosen for the next convocation.

Cincinnati, Oct. 12.—The Maysfield, Ky., postoffice was robbed of stamps and cash amounting to $50,000, post office inspectors here were notified. Tools with which the robbery was committed were left in the building, a dispatches said.

STRESEMANN ISSUES DEFINITIVE DEMANDS

Demands Dictatorial Powers of the Reichstag.

THREATENS ITS DISSOLUTION

German Currency Falling at the Rate of 100 Per Cent Daily, Profiteering Elements Beyond Control and Millions Out of Employment—Wave of Unrest and Uneasiness Sweeping the Entire Nation.

Berlin, Oct. 12.—Chancellor Gustav Stresemann threw down the gauntlet to the German national parliament, demanding that it make him legally the constitutional dictator of Germany, and threatening in event of refusal to "chase the reichstag to the winds" and proclaim himself "unconstitutional, autocratic dictator."

He gave the reichstag until Saturday noon to make up its mind. He was armed with a decree from President Ebert dissolving the reichstag forthwith.

Stresemann's bold step was precipitated by the complete bankruptcy of the democratic form of government imposed on Germany by the Versailles treaty. The government has been paralyzed for days in the most critical period of the country's history by the utter incapacity of the national parliament.

With German currency falling at the rate of 100 per cent daily, with the profiteering elements out of control, with prices at such dizzy figures as to drive people to madness to compute them in terms of money, and with thousands going hungry all over the country, the nation is swept with a wave of unrest and uneasiness. In this situation the reichstag has been hesitating a week, debating whether to invest the government with powers to meet the extraordinary conditions.

When the reichstag met to pass the measure granting dictatorial powers on the third reading, it was found that nearly a hundred members were absent, while a large number of others walked out and refused to vote. This meant certain death for the government's measure.

Chancellor Stresemann immediately went to President Ebert and laid the situation before him. The president gave him a decree dissolving parliament. With this in his pocket Stresemann returned to the reichstag and threw down his bold defiance. Following the example of Mussolini of Italy he said the government was determined to save the country, with the help of parliament if possible, autocratically without parliament if necessary. He agreed to wait until Saturday noon.

Meantime the situation is going from bad to worse at an appalling pace. The mark was officially fixed on exchange at 5,000,000,000 to the dollar, but unofficially it went as high as 10,000,000,000 to the dollar. Indescribable confusion prevails in all business.

Unemployment jumped in the past week from 800,000 to 1,250,000, and the number who work half time is now 2,000,000. It is estimated that by November Germany will have between 4,000,000 and 5,000,000 unemployed and partime employees, without counting those in the Ruhr and Rhineland. Wertheim's, in Berlin, one of the largest department stores in the world, has served notice of dismissal on all of its employees, effective Nov. 1.

GEORGE'S PEACE PLAN

Agreement Between America and Britain to Oppose All Wars.

Toronto, Oct. 12.—For the first time since coming to America, David Lloyd George made public the plan he has in mind whereby the threatened war in Europe may be averted and the world restored to peace. His proposal is that the two great English speaking nations, the United States and Great Britain, shall enter into an agreement to stand together in opposition to war and thereafter serve notice on the rest of the world that war will not be tolerated.

Such an ultimatum to the warlike nations, Lloyd George believes, could be made effective without the use of force, or the threat of force, because no nation in the world, in his opinion, would dare to go to war in the face of such an order. No league of nations, no world court, no association, no treaty, Lloyd George believes, would be required to compel all nations to respect the order for peace throughout the world and abandon their warlike preparations if such an order were backed by the United States and the British empire.

MESSAGE READ

Oklahoma Legislature to Probe Acts of Governor Walton.

Oklahoma City, Okla., Oct. 12.—With the eyes of the country upon it, the Oklahoma legislature convened here. In the legislative halls will be fought the war of the Ku Klux Klan. The legislature, by a large majority, stands for the impeachment of Governor J. C. Walton. "Enact a law to curb this invisible empire and I will resign," the governor says in effect.

The first action of the legislature after reorganizing was to pave the way for a legislative committee to probe the acts of the governor and other high officials of the state. Unlimited authority is given this committee by a resolution passed by the assembly.

The governor's message was read. It repeated his charges against the Klan. "This invisible, insidious and terrorizing empire represents in an exaggerated form fear, falsehood and religious hatred, which is fully exemplified from its operations," his message said. "And either the Klan or the government must fall," the governor said in his appeal for legislation to curb the invisible empire.

Ford "Through" With Weeks.

Detroit, Oct. 12.—Henry Ford still wants Muscle Shoals and hopes yet to get it, but he "will not have any further dealing with John W. Weeks," the motor magnate formally announced. "By the sale of part of Muscle Shoals, the Gorgas plant, Secretary of War Weeks not only destroyed an opportunity to benefit the farmers of the country by giving them cheaper fertilizer, but took the first step in destroying what would be the greatest munition plant on earth," Ford said. Ford said if he got Muscle Shoals he would run power lines out of it for 200 miles in every direction.

Date of Execution Set.

Columbus, Oct. 12.—Ohio supreme court set Nov. 2 as the date for the execution of Irvin Laver of Dayton, convicted of the murder of Arthur Moore, near the Soldiers' and Sailors' home at Dayton, May 19, 1922. Laver had been given a stay of execution pending appeal, which was denied by the court.

ODD EGGS OF THE MURRE

Pacific Coast Bird Picks Its Own From Among Thousands of Others.

The California murre is by far the commonest bird on the rocks along the coast. It crowds together in immense colonies. The bird lays a single egg in the open, with no sign of a nest, not even a bit of grass or a stick to keep it from rolling.

Its peculiar shape helps to keep it in place, even on the bare, sloping rock, and if it is accidentally started down grade by the movement of a bird, it does not roll straight but swings around like a top on its own axis and comes to a standstill a little lower down, writes William L. Finley. Thousands of eggs, and yet no two alike! The combined effect is that of a whole spring flower garden of tints.

Some scientists say that the wide variation in size, shape and color undoubtedly helps the murre to recognize her own. After the eggs are hatched, the difference in pitch, volume and quality of the voices may tell the mother which chick belongs to her.—National Geographic Magazine.

Porpoise a Fast Swimmer.

There is another mammal that is so fast no one has ever been able to find out how fast he is. This is the porpoise. The porpoise can do stunts in front of the fastest boat that travels the bounding wave and when he is through after several hours of clowning he flirts his tail and nonchalantly speeds beyond the horizon. The porpoise will do his tricks under the bow of a nine-knot cargo tramp or a 22-knot ocean greyhound. He is like the antelope in that he sets his pace according to the speed of the pursuer.

WHEAT PRICES

Attempt of Government Would Increase Farmers' Burdens.

A fixed price by the government on wheat would only aggravate the farmers' burdens, Henry C. Wallace, secretary of the United States department of agriculture said in an address at Kansas City, Missouri, to delegates to the seventeenth annual sessions of the international farm congress.

"Any fair price that might be fixed" Mr. Wallace said, "would be a stimulated price and would do more harm than good. For 8000 years, governments have tried to adjust prices, and in an exhaustive study of their methods and the ends attained I failed to find a single success."

To buy and hold the surplus grain would be harder on the specialized grain farmer than the price condition that now exists, for next year and every year there would be a surplus. Hence, to buy the surplus one year only postpones the situation the farmer will have to face later."

Mr. Wallace made a prediction that a solution of the farmers' problem soon would be forthcoming from the United States government. "No group as important to the country as the great agricultural body can be permitted to remain in need of assistance" he said. I am not ready to say what the solution is. The department of agriculture and the administration are working on the problem and some time later will make a suggestion for its solution."

CIRCLE REALTY CO.

EXPEDITION TO EXPLORE
LARGE AREA IN UTAH

Evidence Points to Cliff Dwellers in Southeastern Part of State.

Washington.—An expedition sent out by the National Geographic society, which has been assembling its personnel and equipment at Gallup, New Mexico, recently started for a reconnaissance of a hitherto unexplored portion of the United States, the San Juan country of southeastern Utah.

Leaving Gallup, the geographic party will go by automobile, carrying its supply of gasoline in drums to Kayenta, Arizona, and then on horseback across the Utah line into a land of knife-edge canyons, bold buttes and green-topped mesas until the pack animals encounter impassable barriers. Then it will proceed on foot.

The expedition will attempt a preliminary survey of the region between the Colorado and San Juan rivers, much of it never traversed by white men, which constitutes one of the largest unexplored areas in the country.

The area of observation lies within San Juan county, a county which is larger than the state of New Jersey.

Occasional news of an Indian "war," such as the Plute outbreak of last March, brings sharp reminder that there still is an American frontier. Usually the outbreak ends by the Indians fleeing beyond the fringe of the canyon country into what is a "no man's land" for their white pursuers.

Dr. Neil M. Judd, archaeologist, of Washington, leader of the National Geographic society expeditions which excavated and studied the remarkable pre-Columbian communal dwellings of Chaco canyon, New Mexico, heads the Utah expedition.

Accompanying Dr. Judd is Edwin L. Wisner, a staff photographer of the society, and a party of assistants and guides.

It is apparent, from geological evidence, that the unexplored area continues, on a greater scale, the weird grandeur of the red sandstone cliffs with their purple shadows, and may disclose obstacles which make it impassable.

Dr. Judd's primary attention, on his reconnaissance, will be to determine whether the cliff dwellings and skeletal remains, the traces of pottery, basketry and cliff inscriptions believed to abound here will justify other larger expeditions of the society which shall include experts in every phase of scientific inquiry which the area warrants.

Evidence of the outskirts points to cave dwellers, as well as cliff dwellers in this territory, for early Indians seem to have found shelter in the egg-shaped, and shell-smooth, caves of the vari-colored rock.

The fantastic beauty of this rugged desert, with its red rock gashes, its ever-changing color, and gargoyle promontories offers exceptional photographic opportunities; and it is possible that an incidental result of the trip will be the finding of such other spectacles as the natural bridges and rocky spires which occur in contiguous areas.

Most Famous Etcher in the United States

Joseph Pennell, the noted Philadelphia artist, is busy on an etching of the new Washington Episcopal cathedral. Mr. Pennell is known to be the most famous etcher in the United States and some of his work is now being exhibited in the art centers of the world.

Coney Rabbits on Mt. Rainier.
Ashford, Wash.—A colony of coney rabbits has been found on the slopes of Mount Rainier. The coney is a freak of the animal world in the Northwest. It is the size of a large rat, has two sets of ear lobes and looks like a possible cross between a rat and rabbit. It grows fine fur. On the rocky hillsides it is a fast traveler. Its food consists of berries and roots in summer and in winter the coney hibernates without eating.

Weary Cow Holds Up Train.
York, Pa.—A cow, weary from a long tramp, while crossing the Columbia bridge lay down on the track of the Pennsylvania railroad and prevented a train from passing. The cow held up the train for 20 minutes before the drivers finally succeeded in getting her to stand on her feet sufficiently long to tie her to the side of the bridge, thus permitting the train to pass.

OHIO STATE

Enrollment at University Reaches 8283, Highest in History.

With the arts college in the lead, registration at Ohio State university has reached 8283, an increase over last year's figures. The arts college enrollment thus far is 2208. Registration is practically completed and the total is the greatest in the university's history.

The change in the college of commerce and journalism, making courses four years in length instead of two, has brought enrollment in this college from 475 to 1221 this year. The college of law, the college of education and the graduate college also show increases in enrollment. Decreases were recorded in both the arts and the agricultural colleges. The drop in the former is attributed to the fact that in former years two years in arts were required before entering commerce and journalism, 65.

Enrollment by colleges follows:
Agriculture, 884; applied optics, 48; arts-education, 124; commerce and journalism, 1271; dentistry, 148; education, 945; engineering 1352; graduate school 370 law; 292; medicine, 293; pharmacy, 284; and veterinary, 65.

AMUSEMENTS

Vialo Dana's popularity grows and grows with each new production showing the little Metro comedienne going thru the plot with her characteristic verve and charm. Her latest picture is "June Madness" directed by Harry Beaumont, which began a two days showing at the Met theater yesterday.

In this picture Miss Dana is seen as a modern young miss who goes to the altar in uncertainty and trepidation to marry mamma's wealthy choice. A combination of circumstances at the church provide her with the inspiration to effect a spectacular getaway just as the clergyman is about to tie the knot.

It is a scene which will go to the heart of any modern young miss—the bridegroom left at the post and the bride picking up her skirts and running. Of course, he isn't a very fascinating bridegroom,—not half so fascinating as the young fellow, played by Bryant Washburn, who passes along in his roadster at the opportune moment and helps the young miss evade her pursuers. And they do pursue her.

This is only the beginning of Clytie's adventures. It is a story full of unexpected twists with Clytie always doing what you expect, which is the unexpected. Her rescuer has his troubles with Clytie, too. She is decidedly not the sort of miss for self-assuring young men. As played by Miss Dana with the added attraction of modish gowns and spectacular dancing novelties, "June Madness" is the sort of madness which looks very well on the screen. Crosby George wrote and Harry Beaumont adapted "June Madness."

DICKENS HAD ODD CLOTHES

Author Always Overdressed and Had Appearance of a Gambler—Charles Lamb Always Wore Black.

"He had a double gold chain outside his waistcoat, and such breastpins that I thought he looked like one of our river gamblers." Such is the description of Charles Dickens, given by Prentice in an account of his tour of the United States. A tendency for overdressing was always one of Dickens' characteristics.

A photograph of Dickens, taken in 1852, shows him in a frock coat with a broad velvet collar, a waistcoat made of some furry stuff, and trousers of a huge check. Percy Fitzgerald says, the French painter's remark, that Dickens was "more like one of the old Dutch admirals we see in the picture galleries than a man of letters," conveys an admirably true idea to his friends.

"The first time I saw Archbishop Whately," said the provost of Oriel college, Oxford, "he wore a pea-green coat, white waistcoat, stone-colored shirt, flesh-colored stockings. Bishop Heber was dressed in a porsley and butter coat. Doctor Arnold in a light blue coat with metal buttons and a buff waistcoat.

Charles Lamb always dressed in black. "I take it," he said, "to be the proper costume of an author." When this was once objected to at a wedding, he pleaded the raven's apology in the fable that "he had no other." His clothes were entirely black, and he wore long black gutters up to the knees.

Southey wore clogs; he had a fawn-colored all-around coat and a cap with a knob to it. He never put on a swallow-tailed coat. Like Southey, Porson, the great Greek scholar, had an utter contempt for appearances. When Hazlitt met him in the library of the London institute, he was dressed in an old rusty black coat, with cobwebs hanging to the skirt, and with a large patch of coarse brown paper covering the whole length of his nose.—London Tit-Bits.

WHITTIER WAS IN LOVE ONCE

Writer's Romance With Elizabeth Lloyd His Only Sweetheart, Told in a Little Volume.

Whittier never married. His heart never yearned in verse for a Highland Mary or a Maid of Athens, and so far as his work, and the superficial aspects of his life were concerned, he seemed to be so remote from the divine—or human—passion as Joan of Arc or Savonarola.

And yet it is now known the poet who walked his days in lonely bachelorhood had had a romance, had loved and lost, had really in his own life enacted, in a measure, the world-old theme which found such haunting expression in his own "Maud Muller." The story is told in a little volume, "Whittier's Unknown Romance," in which his letters to Elizabeth Lloyd, Whittier's only "sweetheart," are reproduced. The lack of Elizabeth's letters to him, however, leaves the story incomplete. They were destroyed, for some reason, not hard to surmise, by the lady's request.

Few allusions in Whittier's poems are traceable to her, though the companion of his "Monadnock," whose sweet influence he acknowledged, is said to have been his Elizabeth, and in his own letters he attributed much of his inspiration on various themes to conversations he had with her.—Detroit News.

Her Tyrannical Superior.

They had a woman traffic officer in an eastern city and she was a good one, too. She wore white gloves, knickerbockers, a jaunty cap and directed traffic with all the nonchalance of an expert. The other day, however, she turned in her equipment and returned to skirts. A friend wanted to know what the trouble was.

"I don't care to discuss it," the aggrieved one declared.

"Aw, go ahead and tell me, dearie," said the other.

"Well, the chief refused a reasonable request and I quit."

"Something in the line of duty?" the other woman wanted to know.

"I so consider it. I merely wanted an hour off to get my hair washed."

Sheep Buried in Snow Three Weeks.
A correspondent recalls an incident which happened some years ago on the moors between Huddersfield and Oldham, England. A heavy fall of snow had drifted up and many of the sheep which had been grazing on the moor were buried. For three weeks the snow held fast, and drift after drift was searched by shepherds for the missing sheep.

At the end of the third week three sheep were discovered buried beneath a drift in one of the cloughs. They were in a very emaciated state, and had apparently lived by eating the wool off each other's back, for all three were as bare as newly shorn sheep. One died soon after, but the other two completely recovered from their enforced starvation.

Put His Foot in It.

Hub (with magazine)—Here is an interesting article on dress. The writer describes the clothes women will wear twenty years from now.

Wife—That doesn't interest me a particle.

Hub—Why not?

Wife—Because, unless something wonderful happens I shall still be wearing this same old blue serge suit I've had ever since we were married.

EXPLORERS HUNT FOR PINK DUCK

Expedition to Make Another Trip to India.

GET VALUABLE SPECIMENS

"The pink-headed duck of Nepal is probably extinct," said Arthur S. Vernay, one of the principals of the Vernay-Faunthorpe Indian expedition. In an interview at the American Museum of Natural History, Seventy-seventh street and Central park West, New York. Although the expedition failed to obtain specimens of this rare bird, it presented the museum with an absolutely unique collection of groups of the great mammals of the Indian plains, and plans another trip to secure specimens of the Schomburgk deer of Burma, a creature that has never been seen by white men.

The Vernay-Faunthorpe expedition recently completed a six months' visit in Oudh, Nepal, Mysore and Burmah. The expedition was financed entirely by Mr. Vernay as an individual British tribute to American participation in the World war. The other principal, Lieut. Col. J. C. Faunthorpe, is aide-de-camp to King George and British commissioner to Lucknow. Mr. Vernay is well known in New York as an art connoisseur, big game hunter, and is also engaged in the export business at 12 East Forty-fifth street. The party received invaluable co-operation from Lord Reading, viceroy of India, the Maharajah of Nepal and other native princes, and Sir Harcourt Butler, British governor general of Burma.

Secure Big Collection.

The result of the first hunt is a magnificent collection of groups, male, female and young, of the tiger, leopard, elephant, one-horned Indian rhinoceros, nilghai, swamdeer, tsine (a kind of bison), birds, particularly hornbills and reptiles. There is a total of 450 specimens of all species, including 250 birds, 110 mammals, 30 snakes, as well as other reptiles, scorpions and a number of insects. The expedition left New York on November 1, 1922. It lasted 185 days, and covered 10,300 miles by rail, 570 by motor, 550 on elephant back, 850 on foot, with short distances by bullock-cart, camel and horse. A taxidermist, an ornithologist and a photographer accompanied the party. The latter was Lieut. Commander D. M. Dyer, famous for his war photography in the British navy. His work is represented by a magnificent collection of 1,000 still photographs and 26,000 feet of film. These have been presented to the museum with the specimens. The film will be exhibited for the benefit of the New York board of education. It includes 51 seconds of film of the great one-horned Indian rhinoceros, a tiger charging an elephant and other spectacular scenes.

There was no unnecessary killing, said Mr. Vernay, and no wounded animals were allowed to escape. They killed three elephants, including a fifty-year-old tusker of unusual size, standing nine and a half feet at the shoulder. These were shot in Mysore and 150 coolies were needed to carry the skins and skeleton to the rail head. Lord Reading professed great interest in the tiger group and asked that it be presented to the museum in his own name. The rhinoceri were obtained only through the courtesy of the Maharajah of Nepal, in whose kingdom only, it is found. It is becoming extinct, as its flesh and blood are thought to possess medicinal qualities by the natives, although to kill it implies a 2,000 rupee fine for the first offense and capital punishment for the second. The Maharajah co-operated in violating his own laws, providing elephants and 100 coolies. Three specimens were obtained.

"Ringing Tigers."

The methods by which the party got specimens of tigers is known as "ringing tigers." This sport required 38 elephants, six guns and 533 men. A buffalo was left as bait in the jungle. The tiger killed the beast and gorged on the meat, afterward sleeping until next evening. Natives found the tiger, and a narrowing ring of elephants surrounded the lair and closed in on the beast. When the ring was about 100 yards in diameter a big tusker was sent in to drive out the tiger. The tiger, on emerging, would make a jump and try to climb on an elephant's head. "It is very important," explained Mr. Vernay, "to shoot the tiger before this can happen." Five tigers were caught.

The tsine, a kind of wild bison, is, according to Mr. Vernay, exceedingly wary, lives on wild orchids and other tropical vegetation, and lies down watching its own track for signs of a pursuer. If wounded it will circle upwind, track down and attack its enemy.

Mr. Vernay will return for a further four months' hunt in Burma and Slam, in the hope of procuring specimens of the Schomburgk deer and of the giant Siamese tortoise.

Judge Fines Self a Dollar.

Judge John Coningham of DuBuque, Ia., fined himself $1 for parking his automobile without lights. The car was tagged by a policeman. The court dismissed three other motorists who faced similar charges.

Finds 38 Snakes Under Old Tree.

When he sawed down an old tree, near Samson, Ala., Pierce Bowden found 38 rattlesnakes in a hollow in it. There were two big snakes and 86 young ones. Bowden killed all of the reptiles.

DEATH OF INFANT

Funeral of Richard Lee, Son of Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Klingensmith, Saturday.

Richard Lee, only son of Earl F. and Ethel M. Beougher Klingensmith died Thursday evening at 7:20 o'clock at the home of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Klingensmith, 416 East Franklin street, following an illness of two days.

The child was born in this city December 8, 1921. He was a member of the cradle roll of the United Brethren church. Besides his parents he leaves three aunts, two uncles and four grandparents.

The funeral services will be held at the home of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Klingensmith Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Rev. Walkin Reibel will officiate. Interment in Forest cemetery.

The pallbearers will be Charles Kirkpatrick, Earl Millhorns, Elliott Barnhill and Howard Greeno.

Singing to the Jury.

Lawsuits are settled by an odd method among some of the remote tribes of Eskimos. When two natives have had a dispute each collects his family and friends to assist him in settling it. The parties meet at an agreed time in the biggest hut in the village, and literally sing at each other.

The plaintiff's party chants a series of rough verses insulting the defendant and everything that is his. Then comes the rival's turn, and for the next hour or so they sing at their enemy, putting their insults into some sort of meter.

The old men of the village act as judge and jury, and the verdict is given to the side which, in the opinion of the aged experts, has compressed the largest amount of insult into the best verse and the most noise.

GOOD ADVICE.

All that Circleville needs to start
an industrial revival is for its citizens to forget self and join hands in a whole hearted movement in bolstering up industry.

If each person will forget petty personal jealousy, stop knocking and begin to boost in an effective manner the city can easily double its population in five years at the same time doubling the value of every foot of property in the city. Boost, don't knock.

The Zenith of Stove Perfection

The only jointless leg bottom and base with full radiation and large ash pan that is on the market! or has ever been made in the history of the stove industry.

The jointless leg bottom and base makes the stove air-tight below the grate, which is the only true fire keeping principle.

It will be as good a fire keeper twenty years hence as it is today.

The Hot Blast Air-Tight Florence will heat twice the space that can be heated by any other stove on earth at one-half the cost.

The only perfect floor heater that is or has ever been made.

All features are patented and no stove manufacturer, dealer or user can copy or use same until the expiration of the patent without incurring liability for an action for damages.

THE HOT BLAST AIR-TIGHT FLORENCE burns soft coal or slack and all the smoke and gases. No filling up of the stove, pipe or flue with soot. No dirt inside or outside the house. It will burn hard coal and all the gases which escape from the hard coal base burner. It will burn wood and sawdust, wet or dry. It will produce one-half less ashes than any other stove on earth with any kind of fuel and leave no clinkers or half consumed fuel.

HOG SHIPMENTS

Causes of Low Prices May be Removed by a Little Extra Care.

These are the observations of Paul Gerlaugh, live stock extension specialist at the Ohio State university, following an inspection tour of Cleveland and Buffalo stockyards last week. He made the trip to observe the condition of Ohio shipments and to note causes of low prices that can be removed by a little extra care. He reports:

1. Too many Ohio hogs are being shipped thin. I saw only one load sell for $12.40 a hundredweight, but dozens from Ohio went under $8 a hundred. All the difference lay in 100 days feeding. Well finished hogs are a rarity on the fall market. It will generally pay to feed out the period and to ship fat stuff.

2. Cars carelessly cleaned, with slippery floors and shipments of hogs calves and sheep carelessly partitioned off from each other in the same car account for a high loss in maimed carcasses, which loss the shipper bears. If mixed cars must be shipped, partitions should be well made and the floor of the car well cleaned and bedded. I saw five lambs from one Ohio shipment condemned on the killing floor for this reason.

3. A lamb not docked or castrated is in stockyards parlance, an "out" and brings $3 less the hundred pounds than a docked and castrated lamb. Far too many Ohio lambs come into the stockyards as "outs."

Hotel Stenographer
BY ROE FULKERSON

"Good looking fellow!" The House Detective gazed at a man who had just left the desk. "Yep," answered the Hotel Stenographer "I am having a lot of fun out of him. That's Don Channing. Don is the best looking boy in our parish. If you could see him with his rat off with his wavy hair, you would agree he is as handsome as a movie actor."

"All the girls are crazy about Don, but he hasn't any time for any of them but me. They tell him he resembles Valentino, and that his long black lashes are too good to be true and they sigh and puff like a steam engine every time he looks at them. "I put in all my time telling Don how crazy I am about blondes. He wants to go to places with me and I won't let him. I tell him he looks too much like a girl, and that I do not want people to think that I am running around with a boy out of some comic opera chorus."

"I advised him to give up studying law, because all the men on a jury would laugh at him and that he ought to open a millinery store or a beauty parlor where the waitresses would all come. I asked him if he had ever learned to do manicuring."

"I makes him so mad that he curses something awful, Kelly, but he comes back for more all the time. "But," she sighed heavily as she spoke, "it is mighty unsatisfactory way to catch a good looking man, Kelly. He is afraid to get mushy with me, and never offers to kiss me good night, or anything. I do not know what's the matter with the poor boob. He never seems to understand that all he has to do is box my jaws and take me in his arms or some cave man stuff like that."

MAY AND DECEMBER
Bryson Gibson, aged 27 and Mrs. Rachel Elizabeth Carmean, aged 63, were married in the probate court of Fayette county at Washington C. H., Thursday in the presence of a half dozen spectators. Rev. K. B. Alexander performed the ceremony. The bride has five daughters and three sons married.

HIT BY TRAIN

Motor Bus Demolished at a Crossing,
Three Persons Being Killed.

Williamsport, Pa., Oct. 12.—A Pennsylvania express train crashed into a motor bus loaded with 10 passengers at a grade crossing near Hepburnville, 10 miles north of here, killing three persons and seriously injuring seven others, two perhaps fatally. The dead are: George G. Ault, 65; Mrs. Sarah Hall, 45, and Mrs. W. C. Anderson, all of Williamsport.

The bus had stopped about 25 feet from the crossing to discharge passengers and, according to stories of witnesses, the driver was changing from second to high gear while going over the crossing and failed to see the train. The injured were taken to the Williamsport hospital, where it is said that two may die.

YOUNG FRENCH GIRLS
SEE WHILE BLINDFOLDED

Remarkable Feat Performed in Presence of Newspaper Men.

Paris.—Three little school girls daughters of a chair manufacturer of Paris, apparently have demonstrated their ability to see without their eyes. Even when carefully blindfolded they are able to read print, the face of cards and other matter.

The faculty of medicine at Bordeaux is investigating with a series of tests. The preliminary announcement made by this body is that the explanation probably will be found to be that the blindfolding permits peeping.

But in one experiment a well-known journal whose staff was put on the phenomenon took extreme precautions to prevent any faking. Two cup-shaped leaden molds were placed over the eyes and held in place by a broad bandage, tightly applied. An open book then was placed in a rack horizontal with the eyes, while the head was held motionless to preclude any possible vision above or below the bandage. A whole page was read immediately by the eldest girl without an error.

The youngest girl's talent also is highly developed, for with similar layers of paper and bandage attached to her forehead by means of mudgels, thus preventing any glancing upward under the bandage, she threaded a needle which had been placed in the cork of a bottle held several inches above her head.

The girls are Yvonne, Andree and Jeanne Simonin, thirteen, fourteen and sixteen years old. They are normal French girls, playing the usual childhood games, fond also of cycling and swimming, and accustomed to help around their home. There is not the slightest reason to believe them freaks.

Their relatives, as well as many doctors who have been studying the case, predict the day when every one may attain such a state of mental and optical concentration that people need no longer rely upon their eyes.

Boundary to Be Fixed
From Airplane Pictures

Geneva.—Thanks to the use of airplanes and special cameras, the Swiss commission of experts charged with fixing the long-disputed boundary between Colombia and Venezuela is now supplied with photographs covering about 2,500,000 acres of the wildest part of the territory involved and should have no difficulty in submitting its report to the Swiss government by December 31, 1924, as planned under the arbitration agreement. In a report of the aerial survey, the mission entrusted with the task says:

"The base of operations was the Venezuelan port of Enconstrados, above the Catatumbo river. After the necessary technical arrangements had been made in Caracas with the Swiss commission of experts, the flights over the disputed region were begun on May 26. They ended on June 11, and during this short time 25 hours were spent in making photographic flights, not counting a few flights for purposes of study."

"In these 25 hours, by means of a method combining vertical and oblique aerial photography, a territory of about 1,000,000 hectares was snapped. The photographs clearly show even the most minor details of the ground and make it possible to draw a map of the region that will determine, with absolute exactitude, the system of watersheds and allow the placing of all the elevations, even those which up to the present had never been seen."

Girl Was Guest of
Gang of Shoplifters

New York.—It was all in the family except for one guest, who was invited to go shopping recently and thereby became involved in a shoplifting party which wasn't a success.

May Murray, seventeen, of 106 East One Hundred and Sixteenth street, who admitted stealing two dresses valued at $49.50 from a department store said she had met at a dance. Alice Cruise, twenty-three, of 275 West One Hundred and Seventeenth street, who next day introduced her to May Regan, twenty-three, and her aunt, Mrs. Mary Sims, forty-five, of 2161 Eighth avenue, who was characterized by Justice John J. Freschi as "a woman Fagin, who, it seems, was the leader of a band of female thieves."

After visiting one store, where they worked together, according to the complaint of the detectives of the Stores Mutual Protective association, in making off with shoes and dresses they separated to meet in another store, but the station house was their next meeting place.

Mrs. Sims, who took the blame, was sentenced to 60 days in the workhouse by Justices Freschi, Voorhees and Herriman in special sessions. Miss Murray was placed on probation.

NEW DEPUTY

James J. Timmons, of New Holland, Gets Important Appointment.

James T. Timmons recently received an important appointment in the grand lodge, Knights of Pythias, that of deputy grand chancellor in and for the local lodge. The appointment was made at Akron on October 2, by Dr. Henry Sell, grand chancellor of the Domain of Ohio.

Mr. Timmons has been an earnest and conscientious worker in John A. Logan lodge No. 237, Knights of Pythias, in which organization he is a past chancellor. Very deserving of the recent commission, he is to be complimented upon the rank he has been given.

The new deputy grand chancellor was unanimously recommended for his appointment by the local lodge.—New Holland Leader.

GAME OF HOMERS WAS THIS TILT

Four Rapped Out in Second Contest of World's Series.

YANKEES ON THE LONG END

Ruth, Mighty Hitter, Slings the American Leaguers to Victory Over the Giants, These Proving the Margin of the Yankee Triumph—Ward and "Irish" Meusel Also Register Distance Clouts.

New York, Oct. 12.—Babe Ruth, the mighty hitter of the New York Yanks, slugged the American leaguers to victory over the Giants with two home runs, those runs proving the margin of the Yankee triumph.

In the fourth inning of yesterday's game Ruth smashed the ball into the upper tier of the right field stand, and in the fifth he drove it into the lower tier. Twice he got his base on balls.

It was a game of home runs. Aaron Ward, the Arkansas man, who plays second for the Yanks, made one. "Irish" Meusel of the Giants, made another. These home runs were both hit into the left field stand. They were both as important in their way as Ruth's home runs, but they did not evoke the same cheering.

A spidery young man named Herbert Pennock, a young man with thin arms and thin legs and not much body, who pitched with his left hand, held the Giants in check after Ruth and Ward had made their home runs. Pennock came to the Yankees from the Boston Red Sox, whence so many other Yanks have come, in a trade last winter.

The Yankees soon drove Hugh McQuillan, a Giant right hander, from the box, then Jack Bentley, said to have cost McGraw $65,000, came in. He held the Yankees to five scattered hits.

In the second inning each team scored, home runs being rapped out by Ward and Meusel. The Yankees tallied twice in the fourth on Ruth's homer and on singles by Pipp, Schang and Scott. They scored again in the fifth on Ruth's second homer. The Giants made their second run in the sixth on hits by Groh, Frisch and Young.

Paid attendance was officially announced as 40,482. Receipts $158,493. Official score:

FORD'S NAME ON BALLOT

Entered in Nebraska Primaries as Third Party Candidate.

Omaha, Neb., Oct. 12.—Henry Ford, Detroit automobile manufacturer, became a third party candidate in the Nebraska primary. The petition with Mr. Ford's name was filed several weeks ago by Roy Harrop of Omaha, secretary of the Progressive party. Under the Nebraska law the candidate has power to withdraw his name after the petition has been filed. But Mr. Ford, acknowledging notice of the filing, did not mention withdrawal. Official notice was sent to Mr. Ford Sept. 15. Acknowledgment has just been received, signed by E. G. Liebold, private secretary to Mr. Ford. It was brief: "On behalf of Mr. Ford, the writer desires to acknowledge receipt of your letter of Sept. 15 and to thank you for the information contained."

DORA DUBY

New York Dancer Figures in Breach of Promise Suit.

Miss Duby has instituted action against Harold Grier, said to be an officer of the Dominion Glass company at Montreal, Canada, for $100,000.

PROBING CROSSING DISASTER

Authorities to Place Blame For Killing of Eight Children.

Ravenna, O., Oct. 12.—Authorities are investigating the disaster at Lambert crossing, near this city, where a Pennsylvania passenger train crashed into and demolished a school bus carrying 18 persons and in which eight young children were killed instantly and four others seriously hurt.

Andrew Kaziner, a survivor, said he was seated at the extreme end of the bus and heard the whistle of the train as it swung around a bend in the road, several hundred feet away. He screamed a warning and flung himself off the back step. Later, he said that Louis Cline, the bus driver, had not looked to see if the tracks were clear before he drove across. Cline made a furious effort to have his team and bus clear the tracks, but only the front part of the vehicle was across the tracks before the engine, with brakes grinding, smashed into the wooden bus.

The dead: Mildred Shaw, 11; Harold Shaw, 9, and Verna Shaw, 2, children of C. Grover Shaw; Thelma Benshoff, 9, daughter of Frank Benshoff; Margaret Kuntz, 12, daughter of Mike Kuntz; Julia Wancik, 13; Ella Staincke, 14, daughter of George Staincke, and Richard Silvani, 8, son of Charles Silvani.

Crabbe to Take Case to Courts.

Columbus, Oct. 12.—Attorney General Crabbe announced that his charges against the state securities division will be aired in the courts. "From all the facts and circumstances which have been developed as result of our investigation of the Dollings swindle, I shall protest against a 'whitewash' either of the blue sky department or of the Dollings company by Governor Donahoe or anyone else," Crabbe said.

SEEKS LEGAL RULING

Congressman Enjoined From Making Intoxicating Liquor at Home.

Baltimore, Md., Oct. 12.—A temporary injunction restraining Congressman John Philip Hill of Maryland from continuing the manufacture of intoxicating liquor, was signed by Judge Morris A. Soper in the United States district court. Judge Soper's action was taken at the request of United States Attorney A. W. W. Woodcock, who, in deciding not to place the cause before the grand jury, explained that inasmuch as Mr. Hill had admitted violating the law there was no need for grand jury action. No date was fixed for a hearing on the injunction.

Mr. Hill, who began about a month ago the manufacture of fruit juices for use in his own home has declared that it was for the purpose of obtaining an authoritative ruling on the permissible alcoholic content of fruit juice made in the home. He said his fruit juices have developed alcoholic percentages ranging from 2 to 12 percent.

See Money Inflation Policy.

Paris, Oct. 12.—The reported impending decision of the British government to inaugurate a policy of money inflation is widely commented on here, many of the papers indicating that France will be obliged to follow suit and print more paper money in order to keep up the level of exportation. "Fiduciary inflation may be a lesser evil than business stagnation," says information, a financial journal.

COOLIDGE DROPS WORLD COURT?

Publication of Report Stirs All Circles at Capital.

POLITICAL GOSSIPS IN ACTION

Openly Speculating on What Effect the President's New Policy, as Alleged, Will Have on the Connection of Secretaries Hughes and Hoover With the Administration—Court Proposal to Be Pigeon Holed.

Washington, Oct. 12.—Publication here of an unqualified report that President Coolidge has definitely dropped the world court created a stir in official, diplomatic and political circles.

Shortly after the edition containing the article reached the streets, Secretary of State Hughes appeared at the White House. He was immediately ushered in to see the president and remained closeted with the executive for an hour and a quarter. On leaving the president's office, Secretary Hughes declined to throw any light on the subject discussed. He flatly told the correspondents he could not give them any information. But, Mr. Hughes added voluntarily, that his "chat" with the president was "very pleasant."

The circumstances of Mr. Hughes' long visit at the White House and his attitude on leaving further stimulated interest started by the news article as to what effect Mr. Coolidge's new policy will have on Mr. Hughes' connection with the administration. Will he find his position in the cabinet untenable? Secretary of Commerce Hoover's status is similarly affected. The embarrassment for these two cabinet members, who have been the chief sponsors for the court within the administration, in a decision of the president to throw the court overboard is inescapable. It was stated in Democratic quarters that Mr. Hughes will be called upon within the next day or two to take note of the development and resign as the only consistent thing to do.

President Coolidge's decision will be applauded by the leaders of the Republican party organization. It coincides with the views of the managers in the senate and in the national committee. Regulars in the senate like Watson and Lodge are openly against the court, while John-son of California, La Follette and other irreconcilables were prepared to make a bitter fight against it.

Mr. Coolidge is now said to have tested the sentiment of the country on the court issue and found it to be opposed to American participation. His course will be merely to refer to it in his message to congress as it has been submitted to the senate by his predecessor. Then it will be allowed to sleep the long sleep from which it will never awake in a pigeon hole in the foreign relations committee.

BANDITS WRECK PASSENGER TRAIN

Kill Three Trainmen and Escape With Their Loot.

Redding, Cal., Oct. 12.—Southern Pacific train No. 13, crack passenger train from Portland to San Francisco, was wrecked by bandits in a tunnel near Siskiyou. Three of the crew were killed.

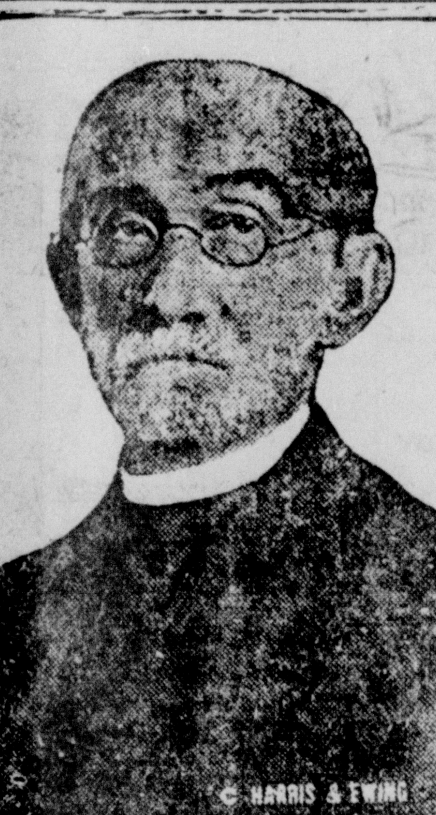

The train was stopped in Tunnel 13 and the passenger and mail cars wrecked by a heavy explosion of dynamite. The dead are: S. L. Bates, engineer; M. Seng, fireman, and C. O. Johnson, brakeman. None of the passengers was injured.

The attack was on the California-Oregon state line and poses under sheriffs from both states are searching for two men seen fleeing from the tunnel after the holdup. The doors of the express and mail cars were blown open by the explosion and the express safe dynamited. The three members of the train crew were shot to death.

On his plea of guilty Alexander A. Kels, wealthy butcher, was sentenced at Stockton, Cal., to be hanged for the murder of Edward Meservey, near the Kels ranch, on Sept. 12. Meservey was an aged itinerant laborer.

DOINGS IN OHIO

Grand Jury to Probe Case.

Cincinnati, Oct. 12.—As a result of the discovery by Sheriff Howard E. Webster of Montgomery county, O., and Federal Inspector Byron M. Roberts of Cincinnati, that narcotic drugs were being supplied and sold to federal prisoners in the county jail at Dayton, and that a former jail turnkey had permitted a federal prisoner to leave the jail, the federal grand jury here will be called upon to make an investigation. The matter has been taken up with District Judge Smith Hickenlooper.

Body Exhumed.

Van Wert, O., Oct. 12.—In an effort to establish the cause of death, the body of J. Frank Homan, who died suddenly at Toledo and was buried here a few days later, has been exhumed and the vital organs sent to a Fort Wayne laboratory for analysis. Relatives believe he died of poisoning. Homan took out $35,000 worth of life insurance policies five months ago, but this did not become known, it is said, until after his death.

Held Work of Murderer.

Steubenville, O., Oct. 12.—That the dynamiting of the home of Charles Pearce, dry agent, at Smithfield, near here, was the work of a professional killer is the opinion of Sheriff Edward Lucas, who is investigating the outrage. Sheriff Lucas has discovered slugs of metal from the bomb in the walls of houses in the vicinity. Damage caused by the blast is estimated at $50,000. The four injured are recovering.

Bride Sold; Three Jailed.

Canton, O., Oct. 12.—Armed Mustafa Gareeb, would-be groom; Alex Ahmet, the father, and Mustafa Haddad, the "best man," all of New Kensington, Pa., were convicted of contributing to the delinquency of a minor, fined and sentenced to the workhouse. The first named sought to buy the 13-year-old daughter by paying her father $3,000. The girl was returned to her home in Pennsylvania.

Sentence Suspended.

Akron, O., Oct. 12.—When the name of George Benedetti was called as prosecuting witness in the case of George Martin, 30, of Zanesville, on trial for assault to rob, the prosecutor told the court that Benedetti had been murdered Sept. 26. Martin then volunteered to tell the story of his crime. Following the prisoner's testimony, Judge E. H. Boylan commented on his honesty and suspended penitentiary sentence.

Must Die in Chair.

New Lexington, O., Oct. 12.—Charles Brooks, negro, convicted for the second time of the first degree murder of Henry Burns, coal operator, last year, will be the first person from this county to die in the electric chair. Brooks was granted a new trial by court of appeals, and his second conviction followed.

Knights Templar Elect.

Columbus, Oct. 12.—B. Frank Murphy of Steubenville, Ohio congress man, was elevated to the highest post in the gift of Knights Templar of Ohio when he was elected to succeed F. Oscar Schoedinger, Columbus, as grand commander. Steubenville was chosen for the next convocation.

Cincinnati, Oct. 12.—The Mayfield, Ky., postoffice was robbed of stamps and cash amounting to $50,000, post office inspectors here were notified. Tools with which the robbery was committed were left in the building, dispatches said.

STRESEMANN ISSUES DEFINITIVE

Demands Dictatorial Powers of the Reichstag.

THREATENS ITS DISSOLUTION

German Currency Falling at the Rate of 100 Per Cent Daily, Profiteering Elements Beyond Control and Millions Out of Employment—Wave of Unrest and Uneasiness Sweeping the Entire Nation.

Berlin, Oct. 12.—Chancellor Gustav Stresemann threw down the gauntlet to the German national parliament, demanding that it make him legally the constitutional dictator of Germany, and threatening in event of refusal to "chase the reichstag to the winds" and proclaim himself "unconstitutional, autocratic dictator."

He gave the reichstag until Saturday noon to make up its mind. He was armed with a decree from President Ebert dissolving the reichstag forthwith.

Stresemann's bold step was precipitated by the complete bankruptcy of the democratic form of government imposed on Germany by the Versailles treaty. The government has been paralyzed for days in the most critical period of the country's history by the utter incapacity of the national parliament.

With German currency falling at the rate of 100 per cent daily, with the profiteering elements out of control, with prices at such dizzy figures as to drive people to madness to compute them in terms of money, and with thousands going hungry all over the country, the nation is swept with a wave of unrest and uneasiness. In this situation the reichstag has been hesitating a week, debating whether to invest the government with powers to meet the extraordinary conditions.

When the reichstag met to pass the measure granting dictatorial powers on the third reading, it was found that nearly a hundred members were absent, while a large number of others walked out and refused to vote. This meant certain death for the government's measure.

Chancellor Stresemann immediately went to President Ebert and laid the situation before him. The president gave him a decree dissolving parliament. With this in his pocket Stresemann returned to the reichstag and threw down his bold defi. Following the example of Mussolini of Italy he said the government was determined to save the country, with the help of parliament if possible, autocratically without parliament if necessary. He agreed to wait until Saturday noon.

Meantime the situation is going from bad to worse at an appalling pace. The mark was officially fixed on exchange at 5,000,000,000 to the dollar, but unofficially it went as high as 10,000,000,000 to the dollar. Indescribable confusion prevails in all business.

Unemployment jumped in the past week from 800,000 to 1,250,000, and the number who work half time is now 2,000,000. It is estimated that by November Germany will have between 4,000,000 and 5,000,000 unemployed and partime employees, without counting those in the Ruhr and Rhineland. Wertheim's, in Berlin, one of the largest department stores in the world, has served notice of dismissal on all of its employees, effective Nov. 1.

GEORGE'S PEACE PLAN

Agreement Between America and Britain to Oppose All Wars.

Toronto, Oct. 12.—For the first time since coming to America, David Lloyd George made public the plan he has in mind whereby the threatened war in Europe may be averted and the world restored to peace. His proposal is that the two great English speaking nations, the United States and Great Britain, shall enter into an agreement to stand together in opposition to war and thereafter serve notice on the rest of the world that war will not be tolerated.

Such an ultimatum to the warlike nations, Lloyd George believes, could be made effective without the use of force, or the threat of force, because no nation in the world, in his opinion, would dare to go to war in the face of such an order. No league of nations, no world court, no association nor treaty, Lloyd George believes, would be required to compel all nations to respect the order for peace throughout the world and abandon their warlike preparations if such an order were backed by the United States and the British empire.

MESSAGE READ

Oklahoma Legislature to Probe Acts of Governor Walton.

Oklahoma City, Okla., Oct. 12.—With the eyes of the country upon it, the Oklahoma legislature convened here. In the legislative halls will be fought the war of the Ku Klux Klan. The legislature, by a large majority, stands for the impeachment of Governor J. C. Walton. "Enact a law to curb this invisible empire and I will resign," the governor says in effect.

The first action of the legislature after reorganizing was to pave the way for a legislative committee to probe the acts of the governor and other high officials of the state. Unlimited authority is given this committee by a resolution passed by the assembly.

The governor's message was read. It repeated his charges against the Klan. "This invisible, insidious and terrorizing empire represents in an exaggerated form fear, falsehood and religious hatred, which is fully exemplified from its operations," his message said. "And either the Klan or the government must fall," the governor said in his appeal for legislation to curb the invisible empire.

Ford "Through" With Weeks.

Detroit, Oct. 12.—Henry Ford still wants Muscle Shoals and hopes yet to get it, but he "will not have any further dealing with John W. Weeks," the motor magnate formally announced. "By the sale of part of Muscle Shoals, the Gorgas plant, Secretary of War Weeks not only destroyed an opportunity to benefit the farmers of the country by giving them cheaper fertilizer, but took the first step in destroying what would be the greatest munition plant on earth," Ford said. Ford said if he got Muscle Shoals he would run power lines out of it for 200 miles in every direction.

Date of Execution Set.

Columbus, Oct. 12.—Ohio supreme court set Nov. 2 as the date for the execution of Irvin Laver of Dayton, convicted of the murder of Arthur Moore, near the Soldiers' and Sailors' home at Dayton, May 19, 1922. Laver had been given a stay of execution pending appeal, which was denied by the court.

ODD EGGS OF THE MURRE

Pacific Coast Bird Picks Its Own From Among Thousands of Others.

The California murre is by far the commonest bird on the rocks along the coast. It crowds together in immense colonies. The bird lays a single egg in the open, with no sign of a nest, not even a bit of grass or a stick to keep it from rolling.

Its peculiar shape helps to keep it in place, even on the bare, sloping rock, and if it is accidentally started down grade by the movement of a bird, it does not roll straight but swings around like a top on its own axis and comes to a standstill a little lower down, writes William L. Finley. Thousands of eggs, and yet no two alike! The combined effect is that of a whole spring flower garden of tints.

Some scientists say that the wide variation in size, shape and color undoubtedly helps the murre to recognize her own. After the eggs are hatched, the difference in pitch, volume and quality of the voices may tell the mother which chick belongs to her.—National Geographic Magazine.

Porpoise a Fast Swimmer.
There is another mammal that is so fast no one has ever been able to find out how fast he is. This is the porpoise. The porpoise can do stunts in front of the fastest boat that travels the bounding wave and when he is through after several hours of clowning he flirts his tail and nonchalantly speeds beyond the horizon. The porpoise will do his tricks under the bow of a nine-knot cargo tramp or a 22-knot ocean greyhound. He is like the antelope in that he sets his pace according to the speed of the pursuer.

The Raccoon.

The raccoon, or coon, as he is more commonly called in the United States, where he makes his home, has the odd little habit of dipping his food in water as if to wash it perfectly clean, before eating. Coons den up for the winter, like bears, sometimes singly, sometimes several together as if for company, in a hollow tree or other convenient place.

NOW IS TIME TO HELP.

Now that the Hinde Paper Box company has selected the site for their new Container Plant, there is no longer any reason for our people withholding their support from the project. Fibre containers are used here in very large quantities. The city is badly in need of steady employment for its people. Let everyone subscribe as they can afford and help get the good work started.

WHEAT PRICESAttempt of Government Would Increase Farmers' Burdens.

A fixed price by the government on wheat would only aggravate the farmers' burdens, Henry C. Wallace, secretary of the United States department of agriculture said in an address at Kansas City, Missouri, to delegates to the seventeenth annual sessions of the international farm congress.

"Any fair price that might be fixed" Mr. Wallace said, "would be a stimulated price and would do more harm than good. For 3000 years, governments have tried to adjust prices, and in an exhaustive study of their methods and the ends attained I failed to find a single success."

To buy and hold the surplus grain would be harder on the specialized grain farmer than the price condition that now exists, for next year and every year there would be a surplus. Hence, to buy the surplus one year only postpones the situation the farmer will have to face later."

Mr. Wallace made a prediction that a solution of the farmers' problem soon would be forthcoming from the United States government. "No group as important to the country as the great agricultural body can be permitted to remain in need of assistance" he said. I am not ready to say what the solution is. The department of agriculture and the administration are working on the problem and some time later will make a suggestion for its solution."

EXPEDITION TO EXPLORE
LARGE AREA IN UTAH*Evidence Points to Cliff Dwellers in Southeastern Part of State.

Washington.—An expedition sent out by the National Geographic society, which has been assembling its personnel and equipment at Gallup, New Mexico, recently started for a reconnaissance of a hitherto unexplored portion of the United States, the San Juan country of southeastern Utah.

Leaving Gallup, the geographic party will go by automobile, carrying its supply of gasoline in drums to Kayenta, Arizona, and then on horseback across the Utah line into a land of knife-edge canyons, bold buttes and green-topped mesas until the pack animals encounter impassable barriers. Then it will proceed on foot.

The expedition will attempt a preliminary survey of the region between the Colorado and San Juan rivers, much of it never traversed by white men, which constitutes one of the largest unexplored areas in the country.

The area of observation lies within San Juan county, a county which is larger than the state of New Jersey.

Occasional news of an Indian "war," such as the Plute outbreak of last March, brings sharp reminder that there still is an American frontier. Usually the outbreak ends by the Indians fleeing beyond the fringe of the canyon country into what is a "no man's land" for their white pursuers.

Dr. Neil M. Judd, archaeologist, of Washington, leader of the National Geographic society expeditions which excavated and studied the remarkable pre-Columbian communal dwellings of Chaco canyon, New Mexico, heads the Utah expedition.

Accompanying Dr. Judd is Edwin L. Wisler, a staff photographer of the society, and a party of assistants and guides.

It is apparent, from geological evidence, that the unexplored area continues, on a greater scale, the weird grandeur of the red sandstone cliffs with their purple shadows, and may disclose obstacles which make it impassable.

Dr. Judd's primary attention, on his reconnaissance, will be to determine whether the cliff dwellings and skeletal remains, the traces of pottery, basketry and cliff inscriptions believed to abound here will justify other larger expeditions of the society which shall include experts in every phase of scientific inquiry which the area warrants.

Evidence of the outskirts points to cave dwellers, as well as cliff dwellers in this territory, for early Indians seem to have found shelter in the egg-shaped, and shell-smooth, caves of the vari-colored rock.

The fantastic beauty of this rugged desert, with its red rock gashes, its ever-changing color, and gargoyle promontories offers exceptional photographic opportunities; and it is possible that an incidental result of the trip will be the finding of such other spectacles as the natural bridges and rocky spires which occur in contiguous areas.

Coney Rabbits on Mt. Rainier.

Ashford, Wash.—A colony of coney rabbits has been found on the slopes of Mount Rainier. The coney is a freak of the animal world in the Northwest. It is the size of a large rat, has two sets of ear lobes and looks like a possible cross between a rat and rabbit. It grows fine fur. On the rocky hillsides it is a fast traveler. Its food consists of berries and roots in summer and in winter the coney hibernates without eating.

Weary Cow Holds Up Train.

York, Pa.—A cow, weary from a long tramp, while crossing the Columbia bridge lay down on the track of the Pennsylvania railroad and prevented a train from passing. The cow held up the train for 20 minutes before the drivers finally succeeded in getting her to stand on her feet sufficiently long to tie her to the side of the bridge, thus permitting the train to pass.

OHIO STATEEnrollment at University Reaches 8283, Highest in History.

With the arts college in the lead, registration at Ohio State university has reached 8283, an increase over last year's figures. The arts college enrollment thus far is 2208. Registration is practically completed and the total is the greatest in the university's history.

The change in the college of commerce and journalism, making courses four years in length instead of two, has brought enrollment in this college from 475 to 1221 this year. The college of law, the college of education and the graduate college also show increases in enrollment. Decreases were recorded in both the arts and the agricultural colleges. The drop in the former is attributed to the fact that in former years two years in arts were required before entering commerce and journalism, 65.

Enrollment by colleges follows:

Agriculture, 884; applied optics, 48; arts-education, 124; commerce and journalism, 1271; dentistry, 148; education, 945; engineering 1352; graduate school 370 law; 292; medicine, 293; pharmacy, 284; and veterinary, 65.

Vialo Dana's popularity grows and grows with each new production showing the little Metro comedienne going thru the plot with her characteristic verve and charm. Her latest picture is "June Madness" directed by Harry Beaumont, which began a two days showing at the Met theater yesterday.

In this picture Miss Dana is seen as a modern young miss who goes to the altar in uncertainty and trepidation to marry mamma's wealthy choice. A combination of circumstances at the church provide her with the inspiration to effect a spectacular getaway just as the clergyman is about to tie the knot.

It is a scene which will go to the heart of any modern young miss—the bridegroom left at the post and the bride picking up her skirts and running. Of course, he isn't a very fascinating bridegroom,—not half so fascinating as the young fellow, played by Bryant Washburn, who passes along in his roadster at the opportune moment and helps the young miss evade her pursuers. And they do pursue her.

This is only the beginning of Clytie's adventures. It is a story full of unexpected twists with Clytie always doing what you expect, which is the unexpected. Her rescuer has his troubles with Clytie, too. She is decidedly not the sort of miss for self-assuring young men. As played by Miss Dana with the added attraction of modish gowns and spectacular dancing novelties, "June Madness" is the sort of madness which looks very well on the screen. Crosby George wrote and Harry Beaumont adapted "June Madness."

DICKENS HAD ODD CLOTHES

Author Always Overdressed and Had Appearance of a Gambler—Charles Lamb Always Wore Black.

"He had a double gold chain outside his waistcoat, and such breastpins that I thought he looked like one of our river gamblers." Such is the description of Charles Dickens, given by Prentice in an account of his tour of the United States. A tendency for overdressing was always one of Dickens' characteristics.

A photograph of Dickens, taken in 1852, shows him in a frock coat with a broad velvet collar, a waistcoat made of some furry stuff, and trousers of a huge check. Percy Fitzgerald says the French painter's remark, that Dickens was "more like one of the old Dutch admirals we see in the picture galleries than a man of letters," conveys an admirably true idea to his friends.

"The first time I saw Archbishop Whately," said the provost of Oriel college, Oxford, "he wore a pea-green coat, white waistcoat, stone-colored shirt, flesh-colored stockings. Bishop Heber was dressed in a palsy and butter coat. Doctor Arnold in a light blue coat with metal buttons and a buff waistcoat.

Charles Lamb always dressed in black. "I take it," he said, "to be the proper costume of an author." When this was once objected to at a wedding, he pleaded the raven's apology in the fable that "he had no other." His clothes were entirely black, and he wore long black gaiters up to the knees.

Southey wore clogs; he had a fawn-colored all-around coat and a cap with a knob to it. He never put on a swallow-tailed coat. Like Southey, Porson, the great Greek scholar, had an utter contempt for appearances. When Hazlitt met him in the library of the London Institute, he was dressed in an old rusty black coat, with cobwebs hanging to the skirt, and with a large patch of coarse brown paper covering the whole length of his nose.—London Tit-Bits.

WHITTIER WAS IN LOVE ONCE

Writers Romance With Elizabeth Lloyd His Only Sweetheart, Told in a Little Volume.

Whittier never married. His heart never yearned in verse for a Highland Mary or a Maid of Athens, and so far as his work, and the superficial aspects of his life were concerned, he seemed to be so remote from the divine—or human—passion as Joan of Arc or Savonarola.

And yet it is now known the poet who walked his days in lonely bachelorhood had had a romance, had loved and lost, had really in his own life enacted, in a measure, the world-old theme which found such haunting expression in his own "Maud Muller." The story is told in a little volume, "Whittier's Unknown Romance," in which his letters to Elizabeth Lloyd, Whittier's only "sweetheart," are reproduced. The lack of Elizabeth's letters to him, however, leaves the story incomplete. They were destroyed, for some reason, not hard to surmise, by the lady's request.

Few allusions in Whittier's poems are traceable to her, though the companion of his "Monadnock," whose sweet influence he acknowledged, is said to have been his Elizabeth, and in his own letters he attributed much of his inspiration on various themes to conversations he had with her.—Detroit News.

Her Tyrannical Superior.

They had a woman traffic officer in an eastern city and she was a good one, too. She wore white gloves, knickerbockers, a jaunty cap and directed traffic with all the nonchalance of an expert. The other day, however, she turned in her equipment and returned to skirts. A friend wanted to know what the trouble was.

"I don't care to discuss it," the aggrieved one declared.

"Aw, go ahead and tell me, dearie," said the other.

"Well, the chief refused a reasonable request and I quit."

"Something in the line of duty?" the other woman wanted to know.

"I so consider it. I merely wanted an hour off to get my hair washed."

Sheep Buried in Snow Three Weeks.

A correspondent recalls an incident which happened some years ago on the moors between Huddersfield and Oldham, England. A heavy fall of snow had drifted over and many of the sheep which had been grazing on the moor were buried. For three weeks, the snow held fast, and drift after drift was searched by shepherds for the missing sheep.

At the end of the third week three sheep were discovered buried beneath a drift in one of the cloughs. They were in a very emaciated state, and had apparently lived by eating the wool off each other's back, for all three were as bare as newly shorn sheep. One died soon after, but the other two completely recovered from their enforced starvation.

Put His Foot in It.

Hub (with magazine)—Here is an interesting article on dress. The writer describes the clothes women will wear twenty years from now.

Wife—That doesn't interest me a particle.

Hub—Why not?

Wife—Because, unless something wonderful happens I shall still be wearing this same old blue serge suit I've had ever since we were married.

EXPLORERS HUNT FOR PINK DUCK

Expedition to Make Another Trip to India.

GET VALUABLE SPECIMENS

"The pink-headed duck of Nepal is probably extinct," said Arthur S. Vernay, one of the principals of the Vernay-Faunthorpe Indian expedition. In an interview at the American Museum of Natural History, Seventy-seventh street and Central park West, New York. Although the expedition failed to obtain specimens of this rare bird, it presented the museum with an absolutely unique collection of groups of the great mammals of the Indian plains, and plans another trip to secure specimens of the Schomburgk deer of Burma, a creature that has never been seen by white men.

The Vernay-Faunthorpe expedition recently completed a six months' visit in Oudh, Nepal, Mysore and Burmah. The expedition was financed entirely by Mr. Vernay as an individual British tribute to American participation in the World war. The other principal, Lieut. Col. J. C. Faunthorpe, is aide-camp to King George and British commissioner to Lucknow. Mr. Vernay is well known in New York as an art connoisseur, big game hunter, and is also engaged in the export business at 12 East Forty-fifth street. The party received invaluable co-operation from Lord Reading, viceroy of India, the Maharajah of Nepal and other native princes, and Sir Harcourt Butler, British governor general of Burma.

Secure Big Collection.

The result of the first hunt is a magnificent collection of groups, male, female and young, of the tiger, leopard, elephant, one-horned Indian rhinoceros, nilghu, swandeer, tsine (a kind of bison), birds, particularly hornbills and reptiles. There is a total of 450 specimens of all species, including 250 birds, 110 mammals, 30 snakes, as well as other reptiles, scorpions and a number of insects. The expedition left New York on November 1, 1922. It lasted 185 days, and covered 10,300 miles by rail, 570 by motor, 550 on elephant back, 850 on foot, with short distances by bullock-cart, camel and horse. A taxidermist, an ornithologist and a photographer accompanied the party. The latter was Lieut. Commander D. M. Dyer, famous for his war photography in the British navy. His work is represented by a magnificent collection of 1,000 still photographs and 26,000 feet of film. These have been presented to the museum with the specimens. The film will be exhibited for the benefit of the New York board of education. It includes 51 seconds of film of the great one-horned Indian rhinoceros, a tiger charging an elephant and other spectacular scenes.

There was no unnecessary killing, said Mr. Vernay, and no wounded animals were allowed to escape. They killed three elephants, including a fifty-year-old tusker of unusual size, standing nine and a half feet at the shoulder. These were shot in Mysore and 150 coolies were needed to carry the skins and skeleton to the rail head. Lord Reading professed great interest in the tiger group and asked that it be presented to the museum in his own name. The rhinoceri were obtained only through the courtesy of the Maharajah of Nepal, in whose kingdom only, it is found. It is becoming extinct, as its flesh and blood are thought to possess medicinal qualities by the natives, although to kill it implies a 2,000 rupee fine for the first offense and capital punishment for the second. The Maharajah co-operated in violating his own laws, providing elephants and 100 coolies. Three specimens were obtained.

"Ringing Tigers."

The methods by which the party got specimens of tigers is known as "ringing tigers." This sport required 38 elephants, six guns and 533 men. A buffalo was left as bait in the jungle. The tiger killed the beast and gorged on the meat, afterward sleeping until next evening. Natives found the tiger, and a narrowing ring of elephants surrounded the lair and closed in on the beast. When the ring was about 100 yards in diameter a big tusker was sent in to drive out the tiger. The tiger, on emerging, would make a jump and try to climb on an elephant's head. "It is very important," explained Mr. Vernay, "to shoot the tiger before this can happen." Five tigers were caught.

The tsine, a kind of wild bison, is, according to Mr. Vernay, exceedingly wary, lives on wild orchids and other tropical vegetation, and lies down watching its own track for signs of a pursuer. If wounded it will circle upwind, track down and attack its enemy.

Mr. Vernay will return for a further four months' hunt in Burma and Siam, in the hope of procuring specimens of the Schomburgk deer and of the giant Siamese tortoise.

Judge Fines Self a Dollar.

Judge John Conningham of Duquesne, Pa., fined himself $1 for parking his automobile without lights. The car was tagged by a policeman. The court dismissed three other motorists who faced similar charges.

When you buy a KELLY CORD TIRE you get the long mileage for which Kellys have always been famous. You also get the greatest degree of protection against skidding that has ever been obtainable in any tire.

A good tire deserves a good tube. In fact, without a good tube inside it the best of tires won't yield the service its makers have built into it. Kelly tubes are a real economy. They are made to help tires deliver the mileage for which Kellys have always been noted.

Singing to the Jury.

Lawsuits are settled by an odd method among some of the remote tribes of Eskimos. When two natives have had a dispute each collects his family and friends to assist him in settling it. The parties meet at an agreed time in the biggest hut in the village, and literally sing at each other.

The plaintiff's party chants a series of rough verses insulting the defendant and everything that is his. Then comes the rival's turn, and for the next hour or so they sing at their enemy, putting their insults into some sort of meter.

The old men of the village act as judge and jury, and the verdict is given to the side which, in the opinion of the aged experts, has compressed the largest amount of insult into the best verse and the most noise.

GOOD ADVICE.

All that Circleville needs to start
an industrial revival is for its citizens to forget self and join hands in a whole hearted movement in bolstering up industry.

If each person will forget petty personal jealousy, stop knocking and begin to boost in an effective manner the city can easily double its population
in five years at the same time doubling the value of every foot of property in the city. Boost, don't knock.

Where They Came From.

The fig seems to have originated round the Mediterranean, particularly in Syria. The grape is native in southern Europe, Algeria, Morocco and western Asia. The red currant grows wild all over Europe, in the Caucasus, the Himalayas, Manchuria, Japan and arctic America. The walnut comes from the Caucasus, Persia and northern India. The sweet orange originated in southern China and Cochln China. The citron is of Indian origin.

ROUND OAKS MAKE LASTING FRIENDS

Did you ever talk to a person who had used a Round Oak Coal Heater for a year or more? Do so at your earliest opportunity and learn why over two and one-fourth million Round Oak users are so well satisfied.

ROUND OAK COAL HEATERS

Surely the Round Oak Folks, who have never produced a medium priced or cheap article, could not testify for so many contented Round Oak users if their manufacturing policy were not based on quality. The shrewdest buyers in the world are not those who can pick the lowest prices, but those who can pick the goods with the highest quality. Investigate our line of heaters today.

THE WONDER OF THE AGE THE HOT BLAST AIR TIGHT FLORENCE

NO SMOKE! NO SOOT! NO DIRT! NO CLINKERS!
EVERYTHING IS CONSUMED.

At the end of the season's use with soft coal, there will be no soot in the pipe or flue

The Zenith of Stove Perfection

The only jointless leg bottom and base with full radiation and large ash pan that is on the market or has ever been made in the history of the stove industry.

The jointless leg bottom and base makes the stove air-tight below the grate, which is the only true fire keeping principle.

It will be as good a fire keeper twenty years hence as it is today.

The Hot Blast Air-Tight Florence will heat twice the space that can be heated by any other stove on earth at one-half the cost.

The only perfect floor heater that is or has ever been made.

All features are patented and no stove manufacturer, dealer or user can copy or use same until the expiration of the patent without incurring liability for an action for damages.

THE HOT BLAST AIR-TIGHT FLORENCE burns soft coal or slack and all the smoke and gases. No filling up of the stove, pipe or flue with soot. No dirt inside or outside the house. It will burn hard coal and all the gases which escape from the hard coal base burner. It will burn wood and sawdust, wet or dry. It will produce one-half less ashes than any other stove on earth with any kind of fuel and leave no clinkers or half consumed fuel.

HOG SHIPMENTS

Causes of Low Prices May be Removed by a Little Extra Care.

These are the observations of Paul Gerlaugh, live stock extension specialist at the Ohio State university, following an inspection tour of Cleveland and Buffalo stockyards last week. He made the trip to observe the condition of Ohio shipments and to note causes of low prices that can be removed by a little extra care. He reports:

1. Too many Ohio hogs are being shipped thin. I saw only one load sell for $12.40 a hundredweight, but dozens from Ohio went under $8 a hundred. All the difference lay in 100 days feeding. Well finished hogs are a rarity on the fall market. It will generally pay to feed out the period and to ship fat stuff.

2. Cars carelessly cleaned, with slippery floors and shipments of hogs calves and sheep carelessly partitioned off from each other in the same car account for a high loss in maimed carcasses, which loss the shipper bears. If mixed cars must be shipped, partitions should be well made and the floor of the car well cleaned and bedded. I saw five lambs from one Ohio shipment condemned on the killing floor for this reason.

3. A lamb not docked or castrated is in stockyards parlance, an "out" and brings $3 less the hundred pounds than a docked and castrated lamb. Far too many Ohio lambs come into the stockyards as "outs."

Hotel Stenographer
BY ROE FULKERSON

"Good looking fellow!" The House Detective gazed at a man who had just left the desk. "Yap," answered the Hotel Stenographer "I am having a lot of fun out of him. That's Don Channing. Don is the best looking boy in our parish. If you could see him with his rat off with his wavy hair, you would agree he is as handsome as a movie actor."

"All the girls are crazy about Don, but he hasn't any time for any of them but me. They tell him he resembles Valentino, and that his long black lashes are too good to be true and they sigh and puff like a steam engine every time he looks at them."

"I put in all my time telling Don how crazy I am about blondes. He wants to go to places with me and I won't let him. I tell him he looks too much like a girl, and that I do not want people to think that I am running around with a boy out of some comic opera chorus."

"I advised him to give up studying law, because all the men on a jury would laugh at him and that he ought to open a millinery store or a beauty parlor where the waitresses would all come. I asked him if he had ever learned to do manicuring."

"I makes him so mad that he curses something awful, Kelly, but he comes back for more all the time."

"But," she sighed heavily as she spoke, "it is mighty unsatisfactory way to catch a good looking man, Kelly. He is afraid to get mushy with me, and never offers to kiss me good night, or anything. I do not know what's the matter with the poor boob. He never seems to understand that all he has to do is box my jaws and take me in his arms or some cave man stuff like that."

MAY AND DECEMBER

Bryson Gibson, aged 27 and Mrs. Rachel Elizabeth Carmean, aged 63, were married in the probate court of Fayette county at Washington C. H., Thursday in the presence of a half dozen spectators. Rev. K. B. Alexander performed the ceremony. The bride has five daughters and three sons married.

HIT BY TRAIN

Motor Bus Demolished at a Crossing, Three Persons Being Killed.

Williamsport, Pa., Oct. 12.—A Pennsylvania express train crashed into a motor bus loaded with 10 passengers at a grade crossing near Hepburnville, 10 miles north of here, killing three persons and seriously injuring seven others, two perhaps fatally. The dead are: George G. Ault, 65; Mrs. Sarah Hall, 45, and Mrs. W. C. Anderson, all of Williamsport.

The bus had stopped about 25 feet from the crossing to discharge passengers and, according to stories of witnesses, the driver was changing from second to high gear while going over the crossing and failed to see the train. The injured were taken to the Williamsport hospital, where it is said that two may die.

YOUNG FRENCH GIRLS SEE WHILE BLINDFOLDED

Remarkable Feat Performed in Presence of Newspaper Men.

Paris.—Three little school girls daughters of a chair manufacturer at Pau, apparently have demonstrated their ability to see without their eyes. Even when carefully blindfolded they are able to read print, the face of cards and other matter.

The faculty of medicine at Bordeaux is investigating with a series of tests. The preliminary announcement made by this body is that the explanation probably will be found to be that the blindfolding permits peeping.

But in one experiment a well-known journal whose staff was put on the phenomenon took extreme precautions to prevent any faking. Two cup-shaped leaden molds were placed over the eyes and held in place by a broad bandage, tightly applied. An open book then was placed in a rack horizontal with the eyes, while the head was held motionless to preclude any possible vision above or below the bandage. A whole page was read immediately by the eldest girl without an error.

The youngest girl's talent also is highly developed, for with similar layers of paper and bandage attached to her forehead by means of machine, thus preventing any glancing upward under the bandage, she threaded a needle which had been placed in the cork of a bottle held several inches above her head.

The girls are Yvonne, Andree and Jeanne Simonin, thirteen, fourteen and sixteen years old. They are normal French girls, playing the usual childhood games, fond also of cycling and swimming, and accustomed to help around their home. There is not the slightest reason to believe them freaks.

Their relatives, as well as many doctors who have been studying the case, predict the day when every one may attain such a state of mental and optical concentration that people need no longer rely upon their eyes.

Boundary to Be Fixed From Airplane Pictures

Geneva.—Thanks to the use of airplanes and special cameras, the Swiss commission of experts charged with fixing the long-disputed boundary between Colombia and Venezuela is now supplied with photographs covering about 2,500,000 acres of the wildest part of the territory involved and should have no difficulty in submitting its report to the Swiss government by December 31, 1924, as planned under the arbitration agreement. In a report of the aerial survey, the mission entrusted with the task says:

"The base of operations was the Venezuelan port of Encontrados, above the Catatumbo river. After the necessary technical arrangements had been made in Caracas with the Swiss commission of experts, the flights over the disputed region were begun on May 26. They ended on June 11, and during this short time 25 hours were spent in making photographic flights, not counting a few flights for purposes of study."

"In these 25 hours, by means of a method combining vertical and oblique aerial photography, a territory of about 1,000,000 hectares was snapped. The photographs clearly show even the most minor details of the ground and make it possible to draw a map of the region that will determine, with absolute exactitude, the system of watersheds and allow the placing of all the elevations, even those which up to the present had never been seen."

Girl Was Guest of Gang of Shoplifters

New York.—It was all in the family except for one guest, who was invited to go shopping recently and thereby became involved in a shoplifting party which wasn't a success.

May Murray, seventeen, of 106 East One Hundred and Sixteenth street, who admitted stealing two dresses valued at $49.50 from a department store said she had met at a dance, Alice Cruse, twenty-three, of 275 West One Hundred and Seventeenth street, who next day introduced her to May Regan, twenty-three, and her aunt, Mrs. Mary Sims, forty-five, of 2161 Eighth avenue, who was characterized by Justice John J. Freschi as "a woman Fagin, who, it seems, was the leader of a band of female thieves."

After visiting one store, where they worked together, according to the complaint of the detectives of the Stores Mutual Protective association, in making off with shoes and dresses they separated to meet in another store, but the station house was their next meeting place.

Mrs. Sims, who took the blame, was sentenced to 60 days in the workhouse by Justices Freschi, Voorhees and Herrman in special sessions. Miss Murray was placed on probation.

Woman Poses 35 Years as Husband. Lynxville, Wis.—William Taylor, whose death in a LaSalle hospital recently revealed "him" as a woman, has lived here more than 35 years as a married man. The "wife" still is here. Taylor was about sixty.

NEW DEPUTY

James J. Timmons, of New Holland, Gets Important Appointment.

James T. Timmons recently received an important appointment in the grand lodge, Knights of Pythias, that of deputy grand chancellor in and for the local lodge. The appointment was made at Akron on October 2, by Dr. Henry Sell, grand chancellor of the Domain of Ohio.

Mr. Timmons has been an earnest and conscientious worker in John A. Logan lodge No. 237, Knights of Pythias, in which organization he is a past chancellor. Very deserving of the recent commission, he is to be complimented upon the rank he has been given.

The new deputy grand chancellor was unanimously recommended for his appointment by the local lodge.—New Holland Leader.
